

Halebury a leading firm for IT / Telecoms and Sport in The Legal 500

Halebury features in this year's edition of the Legal 500 for IT / Telecoms and Sport.

For IT and Telecoms, the NewLaw firm is ranked in Tier 3. Commentary reads:

Halebury's 'brilliant' team includes lawyers with significant in house experience across IT and telecoms sectors and is led by the 'responsive' Denise Nurse and Janvi Patel. Richard Dalby is 'excellent for procurement advice' and has acted for clients such as SKY Business on reviewing its contract negotiation process and Liberty Global Europe. 'Great all-rounder' John Loughrey joined the team from Iris Software Group and Rod McDonagh joined from Nokia. Other clients include Virgin Media, BT and Sony.

For Sport Halebury is ranked in tier 6 with mention of its 'sports media specialist' Raj Korja.

Raj Korja is the key contact at Halebury; he is noted for his in-house experience at FIFA and Sportfive as well as for his extensive experience in private practice. Korja advised FIFA on its cross-border agreement with a sales representative regarding the sale of sponsorship rights to certain FIFA competitions; he also acted for the federation on sale of the broadcast rights for its ceremony 'The Best FIFA Football Awards'. Dentsu Sports Europe instructed Korja on the sale of broadcast

Halebury

Flexible External In-House Lawyers

<https://www.halebury.com>

rights to several competitions run by the Fédération Internationale de Gymnastique. Sky and BT Sport are recent client wins

Denise Nurse Halebury CEO commented: "The coverage reflects the quality work our senior in-house lawyers do for their clients. It is something we look to build and improve upon year on year to keep providing flexible and innovative legal resourcing solutions for our clients and their in-house legal teams."

To view the coverage and rankings in full, see below:

<https://www.legal500.com/firms/4039/6342>

For PR enquiries contact

Helen Burness, Marketing Consultant

e: helen.burness@halebury.com

t: 020 7127 2500